

To Fight Disclosures on Meat

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has vowed to continue its legal battle against disclosing certain federal meat inspection records to public scrutiny.

But consumer attorney Harrison Wellford, who filed a lawsuit asking the department to disclose the records, says he will press his court challenge regardless of the agency's moves.

"We're prepared to take it all the way," Wellford, who is with the Center for Study of Responsive Law, told a reporter. "It probably will take another year at least."

The department decision was disclosed after U.S. district court in Baltimore, Md., ordered the agency last month to disclose part of its records.

The department asked the court for a 30-day delay in carrying out the order so the Justice Department can prepare an appeal.

Wellford asked the department to make public letters of warning the Consumer and Marketing Service had sent to some nonfederally inspected meat and poultry processors.

The petition also asked the department to divulge information on meat and poultry products it had ordered detained, the bi-weekly reports from the head of the department's slaughter inspection division, and the minutes of meetings held by the National Food Inspection Advisory Committee.

Judge Edward S. Northrop ruled the agency must produce the letters of warning and information of meat detention, but deferred action on the other reports and meeting notes.

The ruling and the appeal proceedings could have an important bearing on future meat inspection enforcement.

The Agriculture Department now treats information gathered within plants as almost a sacred trust and releases information only of the most general nature — if at all — and then usually refuses to identify names of private companies.

All this has produced a shrouded, protective method of enforcing the federal meat inspection regulations, Wellford charges. If disclosure of brand and manufacturer's names were routine, he said, there would be little need for massive investigations and reports such as the recent one by the General Accounting Office.

State Job No Bar to Post as Justice

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The attorney general's office said today that a justice of the peace may hold office while employed by the state.

The opinion, by Asst. Atty. Gen. Don R. Rebsamen, went to Mrs. Pat House, Hempstead County clerk.

The office also advised Charles D. Matthews, state chairman of the Democratic party, that a candidate for a county Democratic committee position may not also be a justice of the peace.

Matthews said that a member of a county quorum court had filed for a committee position but had resigned the justice of the peace position.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Rodney Parham said that the resignation allowed the individual to be eligible for election to the county committee.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Henry Ginger spelled out procedures for withdrawing from elections in an opinion to William B. Roberts of Texarkana, secretary of the Miller County Election Commission.

Dock Strike Closes Ports of Britain

LONDON (AP) — Representatives of Britain's 47,000 longshoremen rejected a pay raise offer today and set the stage for the first complete shutdown of the nation's docks in 44 years.

The vote against the management offer was 48-32. More than half of Britain's dockers were on strike before the vote was taken. Some were still at work as the vote was announced.

Terms of the offer have not been made public but it was believed to include a proposal for an extra $2.40 a week for each dockers.

Mitchell to Defend Vote for Those 18

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has pledged to defend the 18-year-old voting bill despite President Nixon's serious misgivings about its constitutionality.

"Any good lawyer can take any side of a case and argue it with equal ability," he said Tuesday at his first Washington press conference in a year.

President Nixon signed the bill into law, but said he preferred to lower the voting age by constitutional amendment.

The attorney general said the 50 states have been asked to submit by Aug. 3 their plans for complying with the new law.

The 18-year-old age provision of the Voting Rights Act does not take effect until Jan. 1, 1971. Two other key provisions, banning literacy tests and dropping residency requirements for balloting in presidential elections, became law when Nixon signed the bill June 22.

"If we do not receive a positive response by Aug. 3, we will assume that the state does not intend to comply fully with the new federal statute and we, of course, will move accordingly," Mitchell said.

Such action would take the form of lawsuits filed before three-judge panels at the U.S. district court level and proceed up through the Supreme Court, he said.

"We believe that certainly the 18-year-old voting requirement and possibly the literacy test and residency requirements will be determined only by a Supreme Court test," Mitchell said.

On other topics during the hour-long session, first with reporters in the nation's capital in a year, the attorney general said:

—The number of wiretaps in use by the government in cases other than national security has doubled from 33 last year to about 66, most of them in investigations of organized crime and narcotics traffic.

—His recent speeches urging authorities to encourage peaceful dissent were prompted by the "recognition that what we have been saying in the Department of Justice and other parts of the government have not been getting through to the students on the campuses."

Theater to Test Censor Authority

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The owners of the Olde West Dinner Theater here filed suit in U.S. District Court at Little Rock challenging the constitutionality of the ordinances under which the Little Rock Censor Board operates.

Donald Carter and Edwin Young, co-owners of the theater asked for a temporary restraining order against the board so that the theater's current production could be performed with a brief topless scene.

The play, "Come Live With Me," opened July 6 with a scene in which Barbara Boyle bared her bosom for two or three seconds.

The 15 members of the Censor Board voted unanimously to ask City Atty. Joseph C. Kemp to block that phase of the production. Kemp advised the owners and their attorney that the topless scene had to be cut.

The city ordinance gives the Censor Board power to censor all movies, theaters, playhouses and public exhibitions. The board first reports any violation to the management of the offense and then, if the management refuses to comply with the board's request, to the chief of police, who is to close it "until a lawful program is offered."

The suit contends that the ordinances violate the 1st and 14th Amendments to the U. S. Constitution.

Maynard of Little Rock be named vice chairman. Maynard, an employee of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., formerly was chief of the Little Rock District of the Army Engineers.

Five subcommittees of 20 members each also were developed to explore five tax areas.

The temporary chairman of the committees and their areas of study are Rep. B. D. Brandon of Little Rock on sales and use tax, Ford on personal and corporate income tax, Sen. John F. Gibson Sr. of Dermott on property tax, Rep. W. F. Foster Sr. of Lonoke on highway users tax, and Sen. Morrell Gathright of Pine Bluff on miscellaneous taxes.

The full committee holds its first meeting in the House chamber at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Ford told the nominating group that the resolution directed a study "not to determine whether there is a need for more revenue or is not a need, but strictly to study equity among all taxpayers."

He added, however, that "while the primary concern is not to find money," the study undoubtedly would have to estimate revenues to be gained or lost through recommendations of the reform committee.

Dr. Lawrence Davis, president of Arkansas AM&N College at Pine Bluff, said he could state that his institution needed more money "whether from taxes or not," and he asked whether he could expect the legislature to act on recommendations of the advisory committee.

Hempstead County Singing Convention will meet with the Shover Springs Baptist Church Saturday night, July 18, and Sunday afternoon the 19th. Singing will start at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and 1:30 Sunday p.m.

The Convention will be featuring a special group, The "Gem-Tones" from Jonesboro, along with several groups from other places. There will also be plenty of good class singing.

"The Gem-Tones" will sing at Providence Memorial Baptist at Perrytown Sunday morning at 11 a.m.

Campus Strife May Not End Until the Vietnam War Is Over

By LEE BYRD
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission aimed at pacifying the nation's campuses was told today it will not succeed until the Vietnam war is ended.

"It may well be," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, "that the only line in the commission's report that will have any real meaning for our colleges and universities is the line that reads: 'This war must end.'"

The Massachusetts Democrat and Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott were among the six witnesses called at the opening hearing of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest.

The others: San Francisco State President S. I. Hayakawa, University of Michigan President Robben Fleming, National Student Association President Charles Palmer and Otis Cochrane, president of the Black American Law Student Union.

Scott declared in prepared testimony, "We must retreat from demagoguery in all its oratorical fulmination. It is time to show each other our humanity, our human goodness."

"Student awareness does this generation credit, as does their idealism. Their anger at the system, the establishment, is evidence of this awareness," he said.

The commission, headed by former Republican Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, was named a month ago by President Nixon in the wake of campus uprisings which followed the U.S. move into Cambodia.

Spurred especially by the shooting deaths of four students at Kent State University in Ohio and two youths at Jackson State College in Mississippi, Nixon asked the panel for full recommendations by Oct. 1.

Cochrane, a Yale law student from Atlanta, said "there should be no doubt in anyone's mind that the ultimate source for the growing tension in the United States rests squarely with President Nixon."

"The blame for the atmosphere of hysteria and fear that produced the murders in Ohio and Georgia and Mississippi is also his," Cochrane said before he began his testimony that he had little faith the President would heed the commission's report.

In his prepared remarks he said, "The rebellion on college campuses is a rebellion against hypocrisy of an establishment that ... demands silence of all its young critics ... and yet sends them to die by the thousands in a senseless war to support a despotic dictatorship."

Kennedy said in his prepared statement the recommendations of the commission "can be issued none too soon," if further upheaval is to be headed off.

Massacre at My Lai 'Covered Up'

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The alleged massacre of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai was deliberately covered up under an agreement by military and State Department officers in the field, a special House subcommittee has charged.

Reports of atrocities by U.S. soldiers promptly spread through 13 different command levels in the American Division, support units and U.S. adviser groups, the subcommittee said in a report released Tuesday.

But there is no evidence they ever reached headquarters in Saigon, the report added.

"The subcommittee believes the explanation lies in a concerted action among military and State Department officers to suppress all evidence of the allegation and its investigation," the report said.

"The subcommittee," the report said, "was unable to determine when, and by whom, that decision was made, and consequently is unable to describe the scope of the agreement."

The report, based on still-secret testimony by 152 witnesses, was released by a special four-man House armed services investigating subcommittee headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La.

Other principal findings of the investigation into the Task Force Barker sweep against the suspected Viet Cong stronghold at My Lai March 16, 1968:

—Helicopter Pilot Hugh C. Thompson testified that when he landed to rescue Vietnamese civilians from a bunker, a lieutenant in charge of GIs standing over bodies in a ditch told him "The only way I could get them out is with a hand grenade or something of that order."

But Thompson denied having helicopter guns trained on GIs during the rescue.

Acts by individual GIs were so wrong and uncharacteristic as to immediately raise a question as to the legal sanity at the time of those men involved.

The Uniform Code of Military Justice should be revised to prohibit court martial for such acts in combat until the accused man's mental responsibility at the time has been determined.

The sole written record of a field investigation concluding only 20 Vietnamese civilians were killed in artillery, helicopter gunship and ground cross-fire and that none were rounded up by GIs and killed — was found hidden in a sergeant's desk drawer. If other documents ever existed, they have disappeared from the files.

An order by Capt. Ernest L. Medina, commander of the company that made the main My Lai sweep, to return to count civilian dead was countermanded by Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, then American Division commander, from a helicopter flying overhead. Koster said Medina's estimate of 28 dead sounded about right.

U.S. intelligence dismissed allegations of up to 570 civilian deaths in My Lai and nearby areas as "Communist propaganda," even though most of the allegations were coming from South Vietnamese officials and detailed time, place and U.S. units involved.

Soviet Re-elects Kosygin

MOSCOW (AP) — The Supreme Soviet unanimously re-elected Alexei N. Kosygin premier of the Soviet Union today.

He is to present his cabinet nominations later in the current session of the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet Union's parliament, but there has been no indication whether there will be any changes.

Election of a government is a formality required because this is the first session of the new parliament elected last month.

Will Push Reading and Mathematics

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Eighteen school districts will be selected today for a one-year experiment in which private companies will be paid on their ability to improve the reading and mathematical skills of poor children.

Six firms will work with 15,000 children in the $5 million, one-year experiment which advocates say could lead to dramatic changes in educating all children.

The Office of Economic Opportunity announced plans for the experiment in a May 14 news conference during which Director Donald Rumsfeld said it could revolutionize primary and secondary education.

The more dramatic part of the experiment, called performance contracting, involves payment of incentives to students, teachers and private educational contractors, depending on improvements in student performance. The incentives would take different forms, including cash, trading stamps and prizes.

The second part of the experiment calls for use of advanced programmed instruction techniques which permit students to learn at their own speed from special materials, often with the help of teaching machines.

In a recent interview, Rumsfeld said the contractors will be paid and measured on the basis of performance—"not on the basis of how many dollars they spend; not on the basis of how many students they see or work with, but rather on the basis of what happens to the student."

"Does the individual boy's reading level go from Grade 1 to Grade 4, or doesn't it? If it does, they've performed, and they're paid well. If they don't—if the reading level doesn't go up in a prescribed period of time, they're not paid," he said.

Rumsfeld called performance contracting "the first major experiment in this country that I know of in this area of human resources where we will be actually... measuring the impact on individual human beings, rather than measuring this vague thing we call interest or concern or effort or numbers of something that go in, in the beginning of the pipeline."

The experiment derives from a small privately operated program under way in Texarkana, Ark., under a grant from the Office of Education.

John O. Wilson, OEO planning director in charge of the experiment, said the 400-student program has had phenomenal results since it began last September.

The school will be taught by Mrs. Clovis Hicks who has her B.S.E. degree in Elementary Education. She has four years of teaching experience. She will be assisted by Mrs. Cannon Hollis who has worked with small children for several years.

If you are interested in sending your child to this Kindergarten, you may call Mrs. Hicks at 4793 to pre-register your child.

An August date will be announced later for those who have registered to come and view the facilities.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The last of Hollywood's three onetime grande dames of the press is leaving the local scene.

Last week Shellah Graham told Abel Gress of Variety that she was going to end her reporting of movie chatter. She plans to devote herself to book writing and a column called "Speaking for Myself," with emphasis on a broad range of issues of interest to women.

The other members of the onetime "Terrible Trio" were the late Hedda Hopper and Louella Parsons, now in a Santa Monica sanitarium. Somehow the place doesn't seem the same.

The three ladies were considered terrible only in the power wielded over the careers of the famous and over the movies they made. On the whole that power was exercised benevolently, though many a bruised ego didn't think so.

First came Louella. For almost 20 years she enjoyed a near monopoly on studio news. With the powerful aid of her patron, William Randolph Hearst, she insisted that the studios channel important announcements through her. She also acted as another confessor for two generations of stars, and that helped her maintain control of the personal news.

A pretender to the throne arrived in the late 1930s.

Hedda Hopper had been a successful actress. Down on her luck, she turned to selling real estate then decided to write a movie column. A colorful figure in her own right, she brought verve and daring to her new profession.

Having had no journalistic training, she was never the reporter that Louella was. But Hedda made up for it in guts. She never deposed Louella, but she became equal in power.

Shellah was always No. 3 and hence had to try ever so much harder. She attracted notice by the classic column technique of picking big targets. Concerted attacks on such stars as Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert accomplished the purpose of gaining attention. Such tactics also barred Miss Graham from a number of the movie sets.

In recent years she has spent more time in London and New York than in Hollywood, and she has also led an active literary life. So it was no surprise when she disclosed that she is through with reporting the foibles of the stars.

CAUTION: ADULTERY MAY BE HAZARDOUS

Dear Helen:
I wrote to you over a year ago but I guess my letter was censored. Now that wife-swapping can be discussed, the problem is getting worse.

My husband is unbearable unless I participate in these activities, which now include pot smoking, and even sadism. If I refuse, his temper frightens me—he's impossible to live with. If I don't, there's no living with myself! I feel as if I'm losing my mind.

He shows me articles in various magazines "proving" that adultery and a "change of scenery" actually help out a dull marriage. Our friends are all well thought of professional people—teachers, a doctor, a businessman and his wife, career women. This is a new kind of them. I don't know where it will end. They justify it by pointing out there hasn't been a divorce in our group since they started swinging.

Well, there's about to be! I love my husband, but I'm afraid of him. And I'm afraid for our daughter. Think of the psychological effects this may have on her when she grows older. But each time I get ready to leave I can't face starting all over again, without anything, and with a three-year-old to raise.

Please, give me courage! NOT A SWINGER

Dear Not:
Your husband wants trading goods, not a wife. Tell him to swing in someone else's treetop while you consult a lawyer. You'll find the break isn't nearly so bad as the misery of indecision—and the awfulness of being the only straight among twists — H

Dear Helen:
I just read the letter from the girl whose parents didn't want her in the Women's Army Corps. Once again I felt hurt because people just don't understand. I was in the Corps, and nothing could make me regret the experience.

Isn't it sad that those who don't know categorize all WACs as bad? Of course there are a few baddies, just as in every profession but the majority are girls to be proud of. They've accomplished something. They've learned how to work. They come out feeling proud of themselves. But they have to keep it to themselves, for most people still believe what they want to believe.

Isn't it a terrible indictment of our system that people who serve their country are so often looked upon as immoral, inferior, or fools? PROUD

Dear Proud:
It certainly is! I hope your fine letter will change a few minds.

Television and Radio

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Riding the rodeo circuit can be the road to riches for television's Western stars.

A performer who works at it diligently can pick up better than $200,000 during the year in guest appearances at fairs and rodeos.

At this time Milburn Stone and Ken Curtis, who play Doc Adams and Festus Haggen on CBS' "Gunsmoke," are at the Snake River Stampede in Nampa, Idaho.

They were at Greeley, Colo., on the Fourth of July and on Aug. 5 they go to the Pike's Peak Rodeo at Colorado Springs, Colo. In September it's the New Mexico State Fair and in October they play a date in Oklahoma.

Stone and Curtis, along with Lorne Greene and Dan Blocker of "Bonanza," are among the most sought-after for rodeo appearances.

"The first year Ken and I teamed up we played 10 dates," said Stone. "The next year we played 18 or 19 together. Even before my heart attack I said I didn't want to do that many."

Stone only plays about five dates a year now, but Curtis plays a number of singles. "Ken more than doubles his 'Gunsmoke' salary, but he really works for it," Stone said.

Between rodeos and "Gunsmoke," Doc puts in a lot of time fishing at his favorite spots, Lake Mead and Lake Mohave, near Las Vegas. At the end of this month he and Curtis fly to Minnesota to fish for muskies for ABC's "The American Sportsman."

Stone and Curtis travel with the Frontiersmen and Joanie and put on a musical act that includes a large sampling of their bickering from the series.

"We tried splitting up the zingers, but it didn't work out that way," Stone said. "The audience wants to see him nail me every time. It's the country boy come to town."

Stone said he observes two rules on dates. "We turn down all private parties. There's always this guy who asks you to come out for a quiet dinner. And when you get there all of his friends are there and they've all had a snootful and start tugging at you."

Second, "We visit hospitals and the like. It takes up a lot of time and energy. But if you don't feel this way you shouldn't be there. You've been in their homes every week, you're old friends."

Stone, who said his character is based on the real-life Dr. McCarthy and Dr. Fabrique of Dodge City, recently was asked to write the forward to the 17th edition of "Horse and Buggy Doctor," by Dr. Arthur E. Hertzler. "Being asked to write that means more to me than winning the Emmy," Stone said.

Cynthia Lowry is on vacation.

Barry's Tops as Little League Ends

Tuesday night was the end of 1970 summer Little League action with Barry's winning the first of three games by a score of 8-0 over Hope Lions Club. Mike McCorkle was the winning pitcher and Dennis Bilbo the loser. James Motor Co. rolled over CBC in the second game 10-0. James scored seven runs in the 1st inning and 3 more in the 4th. Jay Honeycutt was the winning pitcher and Lavender Smith the loser.

Sherriff's took the last game 11-3 over Hope Auto to put them in a tie for second place with James Motor. David Sisson took the win. Artis Perry was the losing pitcher.

Tiger and Griffith Fight Tonight

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Tiger is 40. He hasn't fought since last November. Emile Griffith is 32. He is a busybody with three wins in a row in 1970, including a decision over previously unbeaten Tom Bogs of Denmark in his own home town.

The two men have met only once—April 26, 1966. All three officials agreed Griffith had won Tiger's world middleweight title although many newsmen—and Tiger—dissented.

Four years and many bouts later they fight again tonight in Madison Square Garden with no championship at stake and Tiger is favored.

Weight can be an important factor in this 10-round match to be carried on a special television network with the New York area blacked out. By ringtime at 10 p.m., EDT, Tiger may have a decisive edge in pounds although he is giving away at least eight years.

When they met in 1966, Griffith had must moved up from the welterweight division and scaled but 150½. Tiger tortured himself to make 160.

After 15 rounds, referee Arthur Mercante scored it for Griffith 9-5-1 and judge Frank Forbes 7-6-2. Tony Castellano, the other judge, had it even in rounds 7-1 but gave it to Griffith on points 8-7, presumably because he floored Tiger for the first time in his career in the ninth round.

"It was torture for five or six weeks," said Chickie Ferrara, who still trains Tiger. "It was like he was on a desert, dying for water, and knowing each time he took some out of the canteen he was hurting his chance to get across the desert."

Despite that ordeal, Tiger still claims he can make 160 pounds again "if the price is right." The price would have to be $100,000 and Nino Benvenuti, loser to Tiger in an over-the-weight match last year, would have to put the title on the line.

If Griffith wins, he wants another shot at Benvenuti, who holds a 2-1 edge over him in championship fights. Although Emile is No. 1 in the Ring ratings and No. 2 in the World Boxing Association, he will have to wait his turn. Benvenuti already has agreed to make his next defense against Carlos Monzon of Argentina.

Griffith has a career record of 63-11 and is 18-3 in the Garden. Tiger's record is 61-16-3. Both have held the middleweight crown, Griffith also was once welter king and Tiger was once the lightweight champ.

Strike Threat May Scuttle Grid All-Star

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The College All-Star Game may become a casualty of the deadlocked negotiations between National Football League owners and the NFL Players Association.

The NFLPA, in its second post-midnight statement in 24 hours, said early today that the College All-Stars, who've been practicing at Evanston, Ill., for the July 31 charity game at Chicago with the world champion Kansas City Chiefs, had voted unanimously to leave the official training camp.

The Dallas Times-Herald, meanwhile, in a dispatch from the Thousand Oaks, Calif., training camp of the Cowboys, said the NFLPA planned today to ask the owners' negotiating team to submit the contract hassle to a federal mediator. Agreement of both sides in a labor dispute to federal mediation is necessary.

In New York, an NFLPA spokesman indirectly confirmed the report by saying an announcement on the situation would probably be released in the early afternoon today.

The mediation proposals was to be presented to the owners committee headed by Tex Schramm of the Cowboys at today's closed-door negotiation session.

The NFLPA, through John Mackey of the Baltimore Colts, its president, said the organization had requested the All-Stars, all rookies from the various 26 NFL teams, to "consider leaving camp because of the owners' surprise lockout announced Monday."

A five-player committee of All-Stars, composed of Mike Reid, Mike McCoy, Steve Tannen, Cedric Hardman and Heisman Trophy winner Steve Owens, issued, through the NFLPA, a statement of its own: "Due to the fact that the Kansas City Chiefs' veterans are unable to practice, we have decided to discontinue our supervised practices. We fully realize that the College All-Star Game is played for the benefit of a fine charity and for this reason we have agreed to remain in Evanston if possible and continue unsupervised workouts in the hope that the current dispute between the NFLPA and NFL owners will soon be resolved."

Roused out of bed, Otto Graham, the All-Star coach, said he was unaware of the statement and couldn't say offhand what effect it could have on the game.

"If the players do discontinue supervised practices, then we'll have to talk the matter of the game over with the Tribune people," Chicago Tribune Charities sponsors the annual Soldier Field classic, which kicks off the pro football exhibition season each summer.

There was no reaction from the Tribune.

Alex Karras of the Detroit Lions, it was learned, visited the All-Star players Tuesday and asked for their support.

The All-Star Committee said if the contract negotiations "should continue to a point where the playing of the game becomes impossible, we shall then report to our respective NFL teams."

Rookies not selected for the All-Star squad have been checking in at various team training sites this week. The camps are scheduled to continue opening through July 28 when Denver, last to report, begins drills.

Veterans on many teams are holding workouts on their own near the official training sites as they did two years ago when contract disputes delayed the official start of preseason drills. And, Mackey and his negotiating team say they've been running up 15-20 flights of stairs in their mid-Manhattan hotel during spare moments so they can get in shape.

The Dallas Times-Herald story, by sports writer Steve Perkins, quoted one of the player negotiators as saying the NFLPA has made six concessions during the talks "and the owners haven't moved once. This shows you which side is really interested in getting his season under way."

The player also told Perkins: "We are not going to move any more. The ballplayers are united. We are stronger this time than in 1968."

It was learned from NFLPA

Pete Rose Scores in 12th, Gives National Victory in All-Star

Pays Tribute to American Pitching

By JOHN CHACE
Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose bounced back from two strike-three counts and wound up with a knockdown.

The peppery Cincinnati outfielder bowled into home plate in the 12th inning of the major league All-Star Game Tuesday night with the run that gave the National Leaguers a 5-4 victory. But Rose suffered a charley horse on the play and injured a new friend of his—catcher Ray Fosse of Cleveland.

"He was doing his job but it was my job to score," Rose said in the clubhouse as he lay on the training table with his left knee packed in ice. "If I can change the score, I'm not going to worry about getting hurt."

But Rose, the National League batting champion in 1968 and 1969, was concerned about Fosse, who visited his home Monday night along with pitcher Sam McDowell of the Indians.

"We just talked baseball and Sam played the guitar," Rose said about the visit, joking that the two American Leaguers were trying to keep him up late. "They're both great guys."

Rose said that he called the American League clubhouse to see how Fosse was but he had been taken to Christ Hospital here for X rays for a shoulder injury.

Rose, who had singled and scrambled home on a two-out base-hit by Jim Hickman of Chicago, contended that he was not embarrassed by striking out twice after entering the game in the fifth inning.

"I think you've got to give their pitchers (American Leaguers) credit. It's tough to hit good pitching when you are not used to what they could throw. Hickman got a hit in the last inning, too, and he had struck out twice."

Hickman, who revealed he had never been more nervous in his life than in the 12th inning of the contest, said, "I saw right away that it would be a base hit and felt if anybody could score it would be him (Rose)."

Manager Gil Hodges agreed. "It took someone like Pete to bull his way in there."

Although Rose said he had decided to go all the way, he knew third base coach Leo Durocher "would have spiked me if I had stopped. He was right on my back."

French Horse Favored at Roosevelt

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Ude de Mai, the defending champion from France, drew the No. 3 post position Tuesday and was promptly made the 5-2 morning line favorite for the $125,000 Roosevelt International Trot at Roosevelt Raceway Saturday night.

Dayan, winner of last week's American Trotting Championship and one of the two American trotters in the 1¼ mile harness racing classic drew post No. 6 and was made the 5-2 second choice.

sources here that the NFLPA and the owners have reached accord on pay for exhibition games—a 15 per cent increase over the $350 paid the past two years. In turn, the players dropped a demand that NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle be declared a joint employer along with the owners.

The players had contended Rozelle represents the owners more than he does the players.

As it was in 1968, the pension plan is the key to contract negotiation. The players, it was learned, first asked that an amount equal to 25 per cent of the total player payroll of the NFL be placed in the pension fund annually. They've since pared their demand $3 million to 16 per cent.

The NFLPA claims it has been told by owners that television income of the league will increase $10 million to $13 million in the next four years. But the owners, the players add, don't want to pass some of this along for the pension fund.

NEW YORK (AP) — A new $30,000 satellite pro golf tournament, the Sea Pines Open Nov. 25-28 at Hilton Head Island, S.C., was announced Tuesday by Joe Dey, commissioner of the PGA Tournament Players Division.

The new tourney will be held in conjunction with the $100,000 Heritage Golf Classic, Nov. 26-29 on the Harbour Town links at Hilton Head. The Sea Pines will be played on the Ocean Course.

WATERVILLE, Maine (AP) — Paula Brophy of Beverly, Mass., held a four-stroke lead today going into the middle 18 holes of the three-day, 54-hole New England Women's Golf Tournament.

Miss Brophy matched par with a 36-37—73 in Tuesday's opening round over the 5,906-yard Waterville Country Club course.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Switzerland built a 3-0 lead late Tuesday night, then weathered a desperate Mexican rally in the waning minutes to score a 3-2 victory in an international soccer match. A smaller crowd than expected—2,500—watched the game at Balboa Stadium.

National's Triumph Is 8th Straight

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — When someone remarked, on the eve of baseball's 41st All-Star Game, that fans' interest in the inter-league tussle has been hyped this year, someone else said it was about time the players got interested.

Tuesday night, 56 of the major leagues' finest certified their interest... and then some... in a grueling, 12-inning struggle at muggy Riverfront Stadium.

When it was over, the National Leaguers had pocketed a 5-4 victory, their eighth in a row and sixth in as many extra-inning duels during the long series. But any talk of lethargy, or cop-outs was stillled after:

Pete Rose scored the winning run in a jarring collision at the plate with Ray Fosse that sent the Cleveland catcher to a hospital with a shoulder injury and left the Cincinnati flash nursing a painful charley horse.

Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente, castigated for suggesting he might pass up the game because of a pain in the neck, showed up, played and capped the Nationals' tying three-run rally in the ninth with a sacrifice fly.

Baltimore's Dave Johnson, hobbled by a damaged knee, labored through eight innings at second base for the Americans on the hot and hard Astroturf that blankets the Reds' new park.

Southpaw Claude Osteen of Los Angeles, who had worked eight innings three days earlier, got into the game as a pinch runner in the NL ninth and wound up pitching three scoreless frames to earn the victory.

President Nixon, who joined the crowd shortly before game time, stayed to the finish. So did Hank Aaron, Willie Mays, Frank Robinson and all the superstars who were out of their respective line-ups after the early innings.

The only drop-out was busty Morganna Roberts, the exotic dancer and compulsive player-kisser, who made a promised foray onto the playing field in the first inning... and was promptly hauled off to jail.

Jim Hickman of the Chicago Cubs and Billy Grabarkewitz of Los Angeles two of the NL's top hitters who were overlooked in the fans' first balloting for starting spots in 13 years, shared the spotlight with Rose in the climactic 12th.

Rose, hitless in three previous All-Star appearances and a two-time strikeout victim Tuesday night, stroked a single with two out in the 12th and took second on Grabarkewitz' single. Hickman then lined a single to center and Rose barreled into Fosse before toeing the plate.

"It was a bang-bang play," said National League Manager Gil Hodges of the New York Mets. "It took someone like Pete to bull his way in there."

The All-Star Game has been the setting for crippling injuries to several top players in past years, but Rose plays every game this same way.

"If I can change the score, I'm not going to worry about getting hurt," he said.

Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, named the game's most valuable player after cracking four hits to tie the All-Star mark, delivered a run-scoring single in the sixth, giving the AL a 1-0 lead.

Fosse contributed a run-producing sacrifice fly in the seventh and Brooks Robinson, Baltimore's 14-year All-Star fixture, drilled a two-run triple in the eighth.

Trailing 4-1 in the ninth, the favored Nationals finally exploded. San Francisco catcher Dick Dietz provided the spark with a leadoff homer. Singles by Bud Harrelson of New York, Joe Morgan of Houston and Willie McCovey of San Francisco brought home another run and Clemente tied it with a long fly to center.

Osteen then held the AL at bay until his teammates broke through again in the 12th at the expense of Clyde Wright, California's no-hit left-hander.

Artificial Turf Is Boon to Hitters

By GEORGE STRODE

Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski, the All-Star Game's most valuable player, thinks artificial playing surfaces will be a boon for hitters and has the evidence to back his claim.

The Boston Red Sox star tied an All-Star baseball record with four hits—three singles and a double—and played all 12 innings Tuesday night for the losing American League in the game won the National League 5-4.

His four hits on Riverfront Stadium's Astroturf tied the mark belonging to Ducky Medwick and Ted Williams. Medwick rapped four hits for the NL in 1937 and Williams four for the AL in 1946.

"I think it (artificial) is great for the hitter," Yaz said. "It's got to help some guys 30 points on their batting average and a lot of others at least 15 points."

"You can't believe the speed the ball picks up when it hits the surface," he said.

The Red Sox ace looked like a kissing target of exotic dancer Morganna Roberts when she bounced onto the field in the first inning. "If she was coming for me," Yaz said, "I was going to run over to the President's box."

Yaz wound up with his first single and the 44½-23-37 Morganna faced a disorderly conduct charge today in the court after the incident.

Carl had an explanation for the AL's eighth straight loss to the NL. "We had scoring opportunities and, bang, a base hit."

'Tired' But Wins Easily
By TOM SEPPEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Ilie Nastase, the Rumania Davis Cup team member who is the top seed in the $35,000 Washington International tennis tournament, said he was tired.

He said he didn't have an opportunity to practice on the clay courts which many of the players complain are too soft. "I played in Athens yesterday and I flew 13 hours," Nastase said. "I arrived here at 11:30 last night. How can you sleep with the different times?" He referred to the body adjustment in changing from one time zone to another.

Nastase, however, didn't show his weariness or his newness to the Washington court Tuesday when he easily polished off Steve Krutewitz of Baltimore 6-2, 7-5 in the first round of the tourney. Krutewitz, a 19-year-old Junior U.S. Davis Cup member, had Nastase down 5-3 in the second match but the top-ranked Rumanian player, winner of the U.S. Indoor championship, easily scored four straight points to take the set and the match.

The second round of the tournament, which offers a $7,000 first prize to the singles champion, will be held Wednesday after one final set is played between Mike Estep of Dallas and Ray Ruffels of Australia.

Each had won a set—Estep, 6-4, Ruffels, 6-4, in their match Tuesday but play was halted because of darkness.

Doubles competition also will begin Wednesday.

In addition to the winners purse, which includes eight points toward the new $200,000 17-event Grand Prix circuit, the runner-up receives $4,000, third place $3,000, and fourth $2,000.

Losing quarterfinalists make $1,000, third round losers earn $500, while those defeated Wednesday pick up $225. First round losers get $75.

All but one of the top 16 seeded players moved into the second round. In a mild upset, Frank Froehling of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., returned to the tennis tour after a five year absence and defeated 13th-seeded Frew McMillan of South Africa, 6-4, 6-3, in Monday's first round play.

Virginia has a total area of 40,815 square miles.

Sergeant Lawson will be assigned to Fort Riley Kansas after having a 30 day leave.

U.S., Germany Begin Field Meet

By DAVID MINTJORN
Associated Press Sports Writer
STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — Youth and speed clash with experience and finesse as a two-night track and field meet between the United States and West Germany gets underway tonight in Stuttgart's Neckar Stadium.

West German women, clearly superior in the weights and field events, are favored to hand a teen-ager-dominated U.S. women's squad their second loss in Germany in two years.

Very much up in the air is the men's competition, although experts concede a tested West German team its best chance ever to knock off the Americans, 133-101 victors over West Germany last year in Augsburg.

"It will depend on the outcome of several swing events and the final score could be 10 to 12 points either way," American Coach Leroy Walker said today. "Over-all it will be our speed versus their finesse."

As "swing events" Walker named such traditional American strong points as the high jump, 800 meters, shotput and 400-meter relay. The United States lost the 400-meter relay last week against France because of a bad baton pass but still managed a 117-94 victory over the French.

Scratched from competition here was American distance star Frank Shorter, runner-up in last week's 5,000 meters. Walker said Shorter was not feeling well and he wanted to rest him. The former Yale student should be ready for next week's meet against the Soviet Union.

Also out is triple jumper Milan Tiff of the Cleveland Striders who was injured last week.

Promoters are hoping for crowds of at least 25,000 for both nights in the spacious Riverside Stadium. The Tartan track is in excellent shape and lighting fast.

Formosa Girl Fast in the 100-Meter

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — Chi Cheng, the fleet-footed Formosa-born California resident, was clocked Tuesday at 11.1 seconds for the 100-meter dash for women.

Her time in an international track and field meet here was the fastest this year for 100 meters and one-tenth of a second shy of the world record.

Miss Cheng also won the 100-meter hurdles in 13.1.

Spain Likely Davis Cupper for Europe

BARCELONA (AP) — Spain can wrap up the European Zone A Davis Cup competition against Yugoslavia today with a victory in the doubles after taking a 2-0 lead Tuesday with singles triumphs by Manuel Santana and Manuel Orantes.

Santana was expected to team with Juan Gisbert against Zeljko Franulovic and Nicola Pietrangeli in the best-of-five series, whose winner goes on to meet the winner of the American Zone final between Canada and Brazil.

Storm's Distance
You can tell how far away a storm is by watching for the jagged streak of lightning, then counting off seconds until the thunder noise reaches you. Thunder travels one mile in five seconds. If it takes 15 seconds for the noise to reach you, you know the storm is three miles away.

Valiant Loses 3rd Straight to Intrepid

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — In an effort to regain her lost prestige in the America's Cup observation trials, the Valiant is having a five-inch appendage removed from the bottom of her rudder.

The Valiant, a new 12-meter yacht and the favorite when launched to become the U.S. Cup defender in the famed ocean race in September, was beaten for the third straight time by the California yacht, Intrepid, on Rhode Island Sound Tuesday.

Intrepid, out of Newport Beach, Calif., and skippered by Bill Ficker, now has won seven straight in the current trials and has replaced Valiant in the favorite's role.

After losing to Intrepid by one minute, 44 seconds Tuesday, the

Valiant Loses 3rd Straight to Intrepid

Valiant was taken out of the water to have the appendage taken off her rudder.

"It was put on to make the boat easier to steer, but it doesn't seem to have worked," said Bob McCullough, Riverside, Conn., skipper of the Valiant.

Valiant got the jump on Intrepid in Tuesday's 24.3-mile race, but Ficker held off setting his spinnaker and forged ahead for good on the second leg after he had worked well to the windward of Valiant.

"I wanted to get so far above them that they wouldn't be able to defend themselves," Ficker commented. "Then we could set our shoot and run down on them."

In today's races, Intrepid goes against Weatherly and Valiant against Heritage, the Florida yacht. Weatherly defeated Heritage by 3:59 in Tuesday's other race.

Tallest man on record was Robert Wadlow, 8 feet 9 1/2 inches tall when he died.

New U.S. Study of State Prison

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - U.S. District Court Judge J. Smith Henley, in an order filed Monday in federal district court here, indicated that he intends to give further attention to conditions in the state prisons. Five Negro prisoners had petitioned Henley charging they had been confined on a baseball field at the prison day and night since April 22. The inmates contend the confinement constituted cruel and unusual punishment.

The petition, dated July 1, was first mailed to the court clerk at the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis, who forwarded it to Henley. Henley denied the request, stating that he could not see any useful purpose in requiring a response to the petition or the appointment of a lawyer for the prisoners "in view of the fact that the court is cognizant of the complaints that have been mentioned, and in view of the fact that the court proposes to look into the entire situation at the penitentiary again in the near future."

Henley is presently on vacation and he apparently wrote the order prior to the filing of a report by the state Board of Correction Friday on the progress of the elimination of unconstitutional conditions at the prisons, because the order stated that the progress report "will be carefully studied."

The Houston Oilers will play three of their last four NFL games at home next fall.

No Primary Election at Jacksonville

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The attorney general's office rendered today four opinions on election matters, including one that said there is no provision for Democrats to qualify now for a municipal election at Jacksonville.

Luke A. Moorman Jr., chairman of the Pulaski County Democratic Committee, requested the opinion that was written by Deputy Atty. Gen. Tom Tanner.

Moorman said a group of Jacksonville citizens filed petitions with the committee asking for a party primary in Jacksonville to select Democratic nominees for city offices.

The petitions were filed about 45 minutes before the candidate filing deadline on June 16, Moorman said.

"No Democratic candidates for nomination to these municipal offices filed prior to the deadline as no filing fees had been set," Moorman said.

He asked Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell to rule on whether candidates for the nomination would be able to qualify if the committee called a special primary. Tanner said state law provided that the candidates for nomination had to qualify by noon June 16 and there was no provision for later qualification.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Sam Gibson advised Ronald E. Plumlee, secretary of the Fulton County Democratic Committee, that the Arkansas Election Code does not limit to 300 the number of voters in each precinct.

The law provides that there shall be enough judges and clerks at each ballot box to insure that, based on the last preceding election, no set of judges and clerks will count more than 300 ballots or more than 200 absentee ballots after the polls close on election day.

Gibson also wrote Alderman Les Ashley of Hot Springs saying that a person could file by petition for justices of the peace after the filing deadline of noon June 16.

Ashley was advised that state law provides for petition candidates by independent for municipal or township offices for which no political primary is held. The petitioner needs at least 10 but not more than 50 signatures of voters in the township, ward or city in which the election is to be held, Gibson said.

The petitions should be filed not more than 55 days nor less than 45 days before the general election Nov. 3.

The diameter of a tornado ranges from nine feet to over a mile.

In accordance with the code word ARCH, South analyzes the lead and decides that West holds the queen and probably the jack of diamonds. He Reviews the bidding and wishes he hadn't bid the slam in no-trump because he can only Count 11 winners. How can he make his contract? He might set up clubs but that would let the defense in. What else can he do?

A squeeze is indicated and the first step in a squeeze is to rectify the count so that he has all winners except one. Thus, he lets West hold that first diamond. West continues and South is in dummy.

He runs off four spades and discards two clubs. East follows suit and West will almost surely drop the nine and deuce of diamonds. At this point, all South knows about the opponent's cards is that West holds the jack of diamonds. He also knows that only one opponent can stop hearts. Which is the one? If it is West, he can develop a simple squeeze against him by cashing the last spade and the ace and king of clubs. Everyone will be down to four cards and West will have to throw away his heart guard to keep the diamond jack.

It is more likely that East is long in hearts. Not very much more but just enough to make it worth-while to see what can be done about that. A double squeeze can be developed if that is the case. South runs off his top hearts and goes to dummy with the king of clubs. Then he leads dummy's last spade. East must go down to one club to keep the heart jack. Now South discards his little heart and West must also go down to one club to keep diamond control. South's ace and nine of clubs win the last two tricks.

Q-What is cervical erosion? What causes it and what treatment do you advise?
A-This lesion, an area of reddened roughness or shallow ulceration on the surface of the uterine cervix, is present in about 25 per cent of women of childbearing age. It is especially common during the first few weeks after childbirth. Any germs introduced into the vagina may cause it. It may be associated with a vaginal discharge and a dull backache. It can be cured by applying silver nitrate or electric cautery.

Q-What are fibroids? What causes them? If the uterus is removed, will they form somewhere else in the body?

A-Fibroids are benign tumors of the muscular wall of the uterus. The cause is unknown but they are very common. They do not occur elsewhere in the body.

Q-I have a fibroid. One doctor recommended removal of my uterus and both ovaries—the latter because I am past the child-bearing age. Another doctor says only the uterus should be removed. What do you think?

A-A fibroid should be removed only if the tumor is causing bladder irritation or uterine bleeding. Many fibroids shrink as a woman enters the menopause. There is no need to remove the ovaries "because they are there" even in women who are 60 or more.

Q-Do fibroids prevent pregnancy? If not, is their presence a hazard in any way?

A-A fibroid may interfere with conception or, if pregnancy occurs, it may cause premature delivery or it may block the birth canal and necessitate a Caesarean section.

Q-Is it necessary for a person who has a hysterectomy to take female hormones? If so, for how long?

A-If the ovaries were not removed, no hormones are needed. If they were removed, hormones, although not essential, are often advised to offset the symptoms of the surgical menopause. The dosage should be adjusted to your needs and is usually tapered off after three or four years.

Q-I am a woman, 50. Three years ago my uterus was removed. Can I ever marry?

A-Yes, but you can't have any children unless you adopt them. At 50 you wouldn't be likely to anyway.

Q-When my son was born 40 years ago I had a torn uterus which was not repaired. Now that I am 60, could a repair still be done?

A-Yes. Better late than never.

The greatest recorded robbery was that of the German National Gold Reserves in Bavaria in June, 1945. The World Almanac says. A total of 730 gold bars valued at $9,878,400 and 25 boxes of platinum bars and precious gems were stolen. The theft was attributed to a group of German civilians and U.S. military personnel.

Nixon Not Non-Partisan at Game

—on Politics

By FRANK CORMIER

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's nonpartisan trip to big league baseball's 1970 all-star game found him about as nonpolitical as the organist and scoreboard operator in the National League park where the game was played.

Nixon, during his brief stay in Cincinnati Tuesday night, missed no chance to boost Republican aspirants for high office in the November election.

The most prominent beneficiary of his embrace was Rep. Robert A. Taft Jr., who hopes to best Democrat Howard Metzenbaum for the U.S. Senate.

Taft, whose home is in Cincinnati, was on hand when the chief executive arrived for a pregame family dinner at a downtown hotel.

Taking the candidate by the elbow, Nixon escorted him across the street toward a sizable welcoming crowd and began shaking hands with enthusiasm.

Taft, however, did not take the cue. He beamed as he followed Nixon, but his hands remained at his side.

The President finally began introducing the candidate to the crowd so photographers could get pictures of an animated Taft.

Then Nixon climbed atop the hood of his bubbletop limousine and literally pulled Taft up behind him so they could be seen by more of the cheering citizens.

As for the ballgame itself, Nixon declined to show any favoritism in advance. But afterwards he admitted the American League was his sentimental favorite, although the National League won 5-4 in 12 innings.

As for the organist at Cincinnati's new Riverfront Stadium, he played fight music for the CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — The Region 8 AAU Junior Olympic championship will be held at State College of Arkansas here Saturday.

About 250 youths ages 14 through 17 from Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri are entered.

Some of the winners will qualify for the national Junior Olympics Aug. 12 at the University of Tennessee.

U.S. Military Justice Is Challenged

By RAY BELL

Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The constitutionality of the entire U.S. system of military justice comes under a broad attack today in the case of a soldier charged with murder in the alleged massacre at My Lai.

At issue before a three-judge federal panel is whether the Army has a legal right to try Sgt. Esequiel Torres, 22, of Brownsville, Tex.

The hearing was on a petition filed June 24 by attorney Charles L. Weltner of Atlanta, the first civil intervention into the Army's jurisdiction over the My Lai case.

It contends an Army trial by court-martial would violate Torres' constitutional rights on 15 grounds and asks either that the Army be permanently enjoined from trying Torres or that the case be transferred to federal court.

The court was expected to hear Weltner's arguments in support of the petition. There was no indication whether the Army would present rebuttal arguments, or whether a number of Army witnesses subpoenaed by Weltner would appear.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Albert J. Henderson, one of the jurists on the panel, issued a temporary injunction against the Army in Torres' case two weeks ago. Since then, similar petitions have been filed in other courts for two others also accused in the alleged My Lai massacre.

One of those petitions, for Sgt. David Mitchell, 30, of St. Francisville, La., was taken under advisement Tuesday by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Jack Roberts of Austin, Tex.

The other, in behalf of Spec. 4 Robert W. T'Souvas, 21, of San Jose, Calif., has not been set for hearing.

Henderson, in granting the temporary injunction for Torres, said the case "strikes at the very heart of military justice."

Government attorneys said it could prompt every person being court-martialed in Southeast Asia to seek civil stays.

Sources said it was highly unlikely that the three federal judges would take immediate action.

They indicated instead the panel probably would take the case under study and continue the temporary injunction until reaching its final decision.

The Army had set the pretrial hearing for Torres' general court-martial for 9 a.m. Friday. Torres, a member of the Americal Division during its March 1968 raid on My Lai, is charged with the murder of four Vietnamese civilians—one by hanging—and the attempted murder of at least three others.

Big Piney Ranch Is Group's Alternative to Singing Career

By DANA MCKINSEY

Associated Press Writer

LAMAR, Ark. (AP) — Is there an alternative? Dixon Bowles of the Dan Blocker Singers seems to think so.

Bowles and a group of about 18 young people have left the entertainment world, where they had appeared on television and had done nightclub routines, among other things, to come to Arkansas.

Functioning as a commune, the group came to Arkansas and assumed management of the Big Piney Guest Ranch. Also this summer, the group is running the Mount Magazine Lodge.

Bowles was careful to explain that while the group is living a communal life, it differs from the "hippie" communes that have received much bad publicity.

There are strict moral codes within the group and several of the couples are married and have children. No liquor is allowed at either location.

The members of the group, now numbering about 45, attend "creative thinking" classes, where a variety of things are discussed including the rules of the group.

Everyone has a job at the two lodges. The members of the singers run the lodges at both locations, cook, clean, grow their own vegetables and provide entertainment each evening to guests.

Last winter, when money was scarce, some of the members of the group found jobs in nearby towns to support the rest.

The singers were named for Dan Blocker, star of the television series Bonanza. Blocker came from Odessa, Tex., where most of the singers attended college. Blocker helped them get their start.

Bowles said that the group met one evening and decided they had gone as far as they wanted to go in the entertainment world, where he said there were "negative brutal aspects" to living.

"We decided that show business was not what we wanted to do," he said. "The competition was ferocious, the morality negotiable."

After seeing an advertisement in the Los Angeles Times, the group decided to come to Arkansas to run the guest ranch.

"We came down to look at it (the lodge)," he said. "It was in the middle of the woods with friendly people... honest people... good people."

Bowles said, "We had accidentally discovered a format for living that was beneficial for others."

Bowles describes their life style as somewhere in between "The Establishment" and "The Lie"—an alternative.

Life at both of the lodges

Wednesday, July 15, 1970 centers on the comfort of the guests. Meals are prepared by the singers and range from steak to Mexican food.

One of the singers has a vegetable garden that provides some of the food and the group raises chickens.

Some of the performers wait tables in the evening, then change their clothes to perform for guests.

The residents of the area thought the newcomers were a little strange at first, Bowles said.

He said that a carload of hoodlums visited the lodge one night, but did no damage and later the sheriff came out "to look things over."

"Someone told him (the sheriff) we were growing 'pot' in the garden," Bowles said.

The group devotes a portion of the week to religious study, although they have no organized religion. Among the group, at latest count, were three Jews, five Catholics and a number of Baptists, Bowles said.

Bowles, who is the leader of the singers, says "we live Christianity."

He said during an interview that the group does not work to make money. "We furnish clothing, medical expenses, housing and the basics," he said.

"The rest is done by the members."

"We have a tremendous work force," he said.

"We are trying to provide an alternative," he said. "Everyone is locked into a camp... there is a hippy camp and an establishment camp. Someone has got to stand in between."

No Issue—Why Change? How About That Hervey St. Underpass?

In the absence of any major issue on which to attack the city-manager form of government, Hope's citizens almost inevitably rolled up a three-to-one majority in support of it in Tuesday's special election.

Your editor could have made a fight out of it by standing on his well-known opposition to wasting federal grants on city governments which accept every program that comes along without giving the local people a chance to vote.

But if you think this is a fallacious practice confined to the city-manager style of government I would remind you that the great majority of cities operate on the mayor-alderman system—and they are seldom known to pass up a federal "gift."

But I do want the people to understand that you're not going to halt the rise in the cost of living until the day comes when you resolve to throw rocks at any delegation that goes to Washington for federal "grants" for any purpose that the city could well accomplish with its own resources.

Perhaps the answer to this evil is to begin a campaign against individual city directors who endorse such debt-building "grants" without giving the home people the right to vote on them.

The other day we published pictures showing State Highway Department maintenance crews widening N. Hervey St. as an access route to the Interstate 30 interchange on State Highway 4.

Isn't it about time the city officially inquired of Missouri Pacific Railroad what it proposes to do on its World War II promise to eventually take out the center pier and install obstruction-free steel girders?

As I recall, when Albert Graves was mayor the railroad came to the city with a request for permission to double-track its line through Hope to meet war-time transport needs.

In return the city exacted a promise from the railroad to build an underpass on Hervey St. It had to be built of wooden beams with a dangerous center pier, due to the war-time shortage of steel. But it was understood, as I recall, that this pier would be removed and steel girders would be installed as soon as the steel market permitted.

That was nearly 30 years ago—but we've still got a dangerous underpass right on the Highway 4 access route to Interstate 30.

How about calling Missouri Pacific to account on this old promise?

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — Odell Pollard of Searcy, chairman of the state Republican Party, said Tuesday that new GOP state officials would be elected by the State Committee after the November general election.

Pollard said he would call a meeting of the committee between Nov. 3 and Jan. 1 to elect the officials.

He said there had been some confusion over the date since the committee changed the rules last year to provide for the election of officials after the general election, which is Nov. 3.

Auto Strike Regarded as Likely

By A.F. MAHAN

Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Wage contract bargaining between the United Auto Workers union and major industry leaders opens today and the outcome is likely to have a bearing on the prices of 1971 model cars.

Both union and industry sources have said there probably will be a strike, although the auto firms and the union have vowed they don't want one.

The UAW and General Motors Corp. start the initial negotiations at a forenoon session, followed by talks with Ford Motor Co. Thursday and Chrysler Corp. Friday.

In a statement issued at the session convened, Earl Bramblett, GM vice president in charge of personnel, urged that "serious bargaining begin immediately."

Frequently in past negotiations little progress has been made until the old contracts were on the verge of expiration. The current three-year contracts covering some 730,000 workers at Big Three plants throughout the country expire at midnight Sept. 14.

In previous years bargaining over local issues at various plants has erupted into crippling strikes, some after national agreements had been reached.

Bramblett proposed the formation of a joint union-industry subcommittee to police the plant bargaining "to ensure that local issues are handled promptly and on a business-like basis."

Both sides took tough prebargaining stances. UAW President Leonard Woodcock said the companies would only be "getting warm" if they offered a 14 per cent increase in wages and fringe benefits.

Company executives, confronted with sagging 1970 sales and declining profits, indicated they had no intention of yielding anywhere near such a hike.

The current average hourly wage in the auto industry is $4.02. The Big Three companies estimate that fringe benefits, such as pensions and insurance, add $1.75 hourly per worker to their labor costs.

The UAW has a strike fund of $112 million, which is expected to grow to approximately $120 million by mid-September.

Union demands include "a substantial wage increase," an unlimited cost-of-living wage escalator, and a $500 minimum monthly pension after 30 years service, regardless of age.

To these demands, mandated by the union's 1970 convention, Woodcock has added a call for an increase in company contributions to supplemental unemployment benefit (Sub) funds, which support, among other things, a 1967-won guaranteed annual income.

The companies now contribute five to seven cents hourly per worker, the amount depending upon fund balance.

What You've Done Is Outweighed by That You Never Did Do

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Every-

body's different. Americans today are thought to be a very conventional people, alike as peas in a pod, sharing the dream of making a big buck and spending it in the same way.

There is some truth to this caricature—but it remains a caricature.

We may be alike in many of the things we do, but we are very much unlike in what we don't do or haven't done. To find how much of an individual you are, sometime take the trouble to sit down and make a list of all the things you haven't got around to doing.

When you then reread the list, you'll be surprised to find how surprisingly different you are from anyone else you know.

For example, after nearly six decades of steady living, I find that I have never yet—

Crime Not Linked to Profit 'Is Guerrilla War Against Society'

By LAWRENCE L. KNUSTON

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, opening hearings into the 5,000 bombings reported across the nation in the past 18 months, says the violence may mark the beginning of domestic guerrilla action.

"These are criminal acts," the Arkansas Democrat said in an interview. "But they are not crimes for profit. These are crimes committed out of an attitude of rebellion against society and against all constituted authority.

"They are intended to instill terror into the people and the community. And they have reached proportions requiring us to put the pattern together, to learn if they are connected to detect an organized conspiracy, and to learn if additional laws will be helpful to stop this wave of senseless violence."

Since Jan. 1, 1969, McClellan's investigators said, there have been more than 1,000 bombing cases involving the use of high-explosives and more than 4,000 involving incendiary devices, an average of more than nine bomb incidents a day.

The result, they said, has been up to 40 deaths, about 300 injuries and more than $23 million in property damage.

Committee sources said the recent bombings appear to be the work of white and black extremists, anti-Semites and labor racketeers.

They said their statistics also indicate the resort to the bomb as a political-social terror tool has been largely a premeditated act apparently perpetrated by so-called revolutionary youths.

McClellan said testimony during the hearings will reveal "a measure of guerrilla warfare is being conducted by terrorists across the entire nation."

In the past 18 months, explosions have ripped office buildings in New York City, ROTC buildings on university campuses, the offices of foreign nations in New York and Washington, synagogues and churches, and school buses.

In general, Chung said, South Korea seeks three types of military modernization—more firepower, better mobility and improved communications.

Like other members of the South Korean government, the defense chief reacted strongly against the U.S. troop reduction.

He said it was "very unfortunate under the circumstances to apply the Nixon Doctrine. It is certainly not the suitable time to implement it."

After the seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo in 1968, the United States provided about $100 million in additional assistance for the South Korean armed forces. This included a squadron of 18 Phantom jet aircraft.

Those were "not satisfactory to cope with the Communist air force in the North," Chung said.

He estimated that South Korea has about one-third the capability of the North Korean air force. Of 900 North Korean planes, more than half are supersonic jets, including four squadrons of MIG21s, he said.

The gap between the North Korean and South Korean air forces has been filled by reinforcements of U.S. aircraft since the Pueblo incident, the defense chief stated.

At present, the Russians are understood to have about 12 missile-launching submarines in operation, some within striking range of the United States.

House Panel O.K.'s Quotas, to Up Prices

By EDMOND LeBRETON

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has approved import quotas which could force American consumers to pay as much as 30 per cent more for shoes and shirts.

The action is a sharp break with the 37-year-old United States policy of freer foreign trade and reflects increasing House sentiment for protection of domestic producers.

The committee quotas, announced Tuesday night, are given an excellent chance of being ratified by Congress, despite evidence of consumer resistance.

A majority of House members are sponsoring legislation for limiting imports of textile products and shoes. In the past, the House has been the pitfall of quota legislation twice voted by the Senate.

The committee heard testimony that the consumer price of shirts, raincoats and shoes produced abroad is 15 to 30 per cent lower than the price of such items manufactured in the United States.

The Ways and Means decision still must be translated into an omnibus trade bill, subject to approval of both houses.

Congress is reacting to reports of steeply rising imports and to irritation at continuing nontariff restrictions against U.S. goods in the European Common Market and in Japan, a major source of textiles.

The final straw was the breakdown of talks with Japan on voluntary restrictions—a failure which came just as the Ways and Means Committee was shaping trade legislation. It was at this point that the Nixon administration reluctantly dropped its opposition to textile quotas.

Preliminary figures indicated wool quotas would not result in a reduction in current import levels. Neither would cotton imports which are covered by a voluntary agreement. The committee proposal excludes silk—considered noncompetitive—and manmade fibers not made into yarn.

No figures on shoe imports have been released.

Major portions of the committee proposal would base quotas on textiles and textile products on the average of imports in 1967 through 1969. The formula could be modified later to give imports a share in any increase in domestic consumption.

The quota on manmade textiles—the major import item—would mean a cutback from about 2.3 billion square yards, the current annual import rate, to about 1.4 billion square yards.

As a result of another administration recommendation, the President would be authorized to grant exemptions, either by product or by country, for imports not considered disruptive of U.S. business.

Any country could avoid mandatory quotas by negotiating voluntary limitations.

The committee also called for drafting provisions under which quotas could be imposed, generally by the President, on any commodity in which the Tariff Commission found U.S. interests threatened by imports.

The suit contained that Weaver, in which La-Co is a stockholder, planned to sell all of Weaver's stock in the First National Bank of Magnolia at less than fair market value.

The suit also contended that such disposal would amount to fraud with intent by Weaver's officers and directors to avoid paying $214,249 that Weaver owes La-Co.

La-Co had requested the suit be dismissed.

Election Comments

The following were Hope citizens comments on the outcome of Tuesday's election to retain the city manager form of government.

Mayor Frank Douglas: "The election turned out as I thought it would after so many people had discussed it with me. The people of Hope believe in progress, and the form of government we now have has been very progressive—and we hope it will be more so in the future for all people."

George Frazier of Anderson-Frazier Insurance Agency, Inc., said: "One of the things a father hopes to do is to have the privilege of working and living in a progressive community so that his children will have all the opportunities such a community affords. The dedicated people of Hope have reaffirmed their decision made back in 1957 to create such a community. My family and I are happy to be a part of that decision and we thank those who had any part in making sure that our city manager form of government is to be retained."

Leonard Ellis, co-chairman of the Committee for Stability in City Government, commented: "I'm happy we won. Our job was to bring the facts, figures, and authentic information to the public in a series of messages. It was a good educational campaign and a wise decision at the polls. The big thing was not so much where we stand, but in what direction we are moving."

Homer C. Kennedy, local plumber, who filed the petition for the election did not comment. James H. Pilkinton, city attorney: "I think the returns speak for themselves. I trust we can all close ranks now, regardless of how we voted, and that everybody will work together for a better city."

City Manager G. G. Medders: "I'm delighted over the outcome of the voting. I think it has been a healthy vote for the community; people have re-examined their city government.

"Another aspect is the colored vote turnout, which was gratifying. I have always tried to see that the services performed by the city government are available to all classes of people. They see that they do have a government that will respond to their needs."

Residents in two Arkansas cities Tuesday defeated proposals to change forms of government and voters in three cities voted in favor of bond proposals.

Trumann residents voted to retain their present mayor-council form of government.

The proposal to switch to a city manager form of government failed by a vote of 336-455.

L. B. Baker of Trumann, a member of a committee supporting the city manager form of government had predicted the proposal would be approved. The switch had been endorsed by Mayor O. C. Nunnally and the city council.

Hope voters also decided to stay with their present form of government.

A proposal to change from a city manager form of government to the mayor-council system was soundly defeated, 332-1155.

Hope had previously been under a mayor-council system, but voted in 1957 to switch to the city manager form of government.

Helena voters Tuesday approved two bond issues totaling $250,000.

A $175,000 bond issue to provide a recreation park for the city passed 581-338 and a $75,000 issue to purchase a new fire truck and begin construction of a new fire station was approved 764-148.

Batesville voters overwhelmingly approved a $5 million bond issue to finance an expansion at the Emerson Electric Co. plant.

The proposal passed 488-6. Gould residents approved a $250,000 bond issue to finance construction of a building to house a plant for the Jack Winter Co. The firm is a garment manufacturer.

The bond issue passed 214-3.

Hempstead County Democratic Women's Club will sponsor a political rally Friday, July 24, in the Third District Livestock Coliseum. Most of the state and all of the local Democratic candidates have accepted invitations to speak and those not able to attend will send representatives.

Interesting facts and figures concerning yesterday's election: there are 4,270 registered voters in the City of Hope; 1,155 voted to retain the present City Manager form of government; there were 512 valid signatures on a petition to call yesterday's election; 332 voted to revert back to the Mayor Council system; 2,783 registered voters didn't vote at all yesterday; a little over one third of the registered voters voted. Above are the facts — you figure it out.

Kenneth Nivens of Blevins was one of 24 Southern State College students exhibiting photographs in a display at the College Center recently. Nivens, who recently received his bachelor of science degree at SSC on May 20, is a special student at the college this session. He is the son of Mrs. Ruff Nivens of Rt. 3 Prescott and husband of Sandra Lee Nivens, also of Blevins.

He said that Arkansas had been expecting about $2.7 million for this quarter but apparently would receive only about $2.2 million.

City Manager Is Retained by 3 to 1

Hope voters in Tuesday's special city election voted three-to-one to retain the present city-manager form of government.

As the issue appeared on the ballot it was a proposition of voting for or against a proposal to return to the old mayor-alderman system. It was defeated 332 to 1,155—thereby sustaining the present city-manager regime.

The total turnout was relatively light—1,487 votes as compared to a total of 4,270 registered city electors.
